A “Relaxed” Performance

Saturday, March 11 at 10 am

Relaxed Performances are designed to provide a theatrical experience for people with autism, learning difficulties or other sensory and communication needs who require a more relaxed atmosphere. They are also great for families that have children under the age of seven as there is a more “relaxed” attitude about the shorter attention spans of very young children

- Some adjustments to sound and lighting and other scary elements of the show.
- Free online support resources to help your family prepare for the visit based on study guides originally provided by www.mousetrap.org.uk Check Playmakers website frequently for updates and support materials
- Volunteers and staff to help at the event.
- A television screen in the lobby for audience members who need a break from the live action on stage.
- A brief opportunity to meet the characters after the show.

Tickets:

$7.00 for children 3-6

Children age 2 and under are FREE!

$9.00 for all others

“You won’t need me to tell you how liberating it is to be able to take a special needs child at an event where his/her challenging behavior is the norm rather than the exception. It makes their experiences of life a great deal broader than they might otherwise be — and their family’s likewise.”

Father of a child with Autism who attended the relaxed performance of Shrek in London.
