By 9:00 am Friday April 20th, I should have completed and submitted the following assignments:

1. Scene 1:
 - a. You should read pages 302-305 in your textbook.
 - b. Here is a link to the first scene. I have recorded commentary on some of the important events in the scene, so you might want to look at it even if you do not need the pages.
 - c. Once you have completed this, discuss it on the discussion board. See the instructions below for information on how to do this.
2. Packet:
 - a. The packet is comprised of four parts:
 - i. Summary: Each scene has been divided into parts. Pay close attention to the line numbers and summarize the major events in each section.
 - ii. Character Analysis: I will list two characters in each scene. Use this section to document each character's personality, actions, and relationships with others.
 - iii. Character Foils: Each pair of characters you will analyze are examples of character foils. Use this section to determine how these characters are different and how this difference helps to provide context to their personality and motivations.
 - iv. Questions for Analysis: After each scene, you will answer questions helping you understand what is happening. Each question should be answered using no more than one paragraph and should contain evidence from the text.
 - b. You can find the link here or download it directly from my website.
 - c. If anyone has any trouble with the fillable PDF, please refer to this Technology Issues and Solutions document.
3. Ode: The first Ode is attached to this document along with information regarding figurative language.
 - a. Once you have completed this, discuss it on the discussion board. See the instructions below for information on how to do this.
